

The students of St. James Catholic School recently donated their hand-painted papier maché Christmas ornaments to CASA (Court Appointed Special Advocates) as part of their “Art Serves: For the Children...By the Children” community service project (made possible by the Leo Seal Innovative Teacher Grant they received in 2016).

Students donate their artwork to facilities that cater to the needs of children who are hurting mentally, emotionally, or physically. We have recently formed a partnership with CASA and will continually donate children’s art to their various fundraisers throughout the year.
